Stone

Stone is the ultimate material.

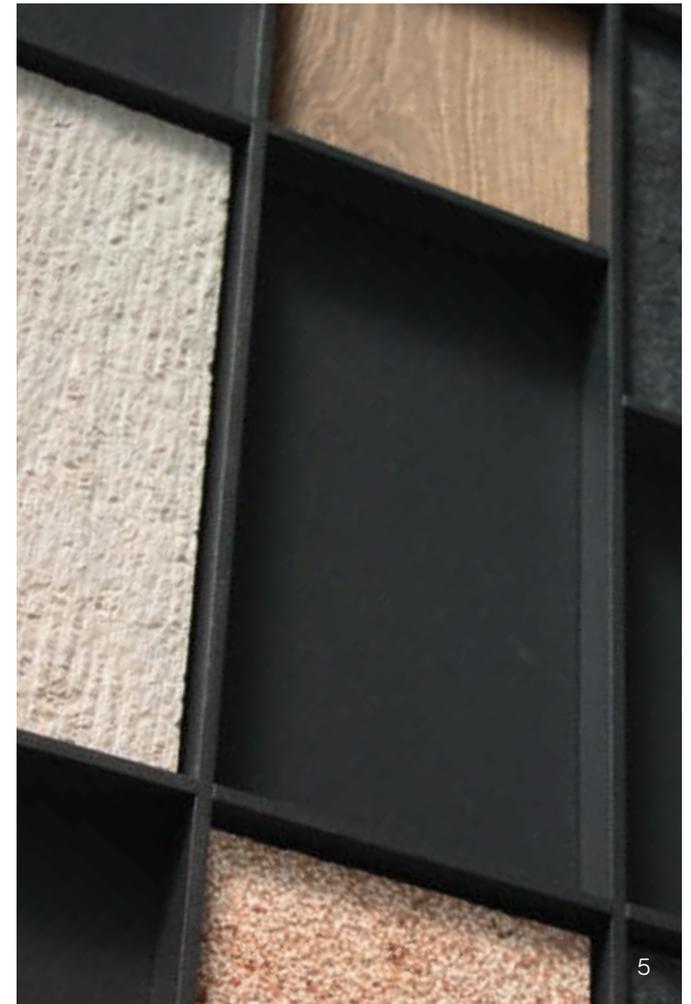

We have chosen 5 different types, each one with its unique story and personality. Cungnan Stone, was used to build houses in this little village on the Alps.

The Red Verona Marble has been a building material since the ancient times. Absolut Black Granite, the colour that can't miss. Grey Marble Fiammato d'Oriente with its grain that changes with the light. Diamond rolled Trani Marble, used since the Crusades times.

➡ Sizes 10x10 cm - 10x20 cm - 15x15 cm

A design inspired to Nature through the use of authentic materials is the main theme of contemporary interior style.

Wood

ROVERE SCURO

ROVERE CHIARO

Wood can be used forever. Wood can have a second life, as the one we have chosen: a natural recycled oak in two different shades.

You can feel all the warmth of tradition in a definitely contemporary context.

➡ Sizes 10x10 cm - 10x20 cm

Evergreen and green: let's talk about wood. Revised and thinned, it is used in both classic and contemporary design. The natural beauty of raw wood is very much loved by designers.

Back to Nature and its elements to find balance and harmony with the environment.

Ceramic

Shiny glazes and intense nuances are the result of Della Robbia family's traditions in ceramics.

Colouring is still realized in Montelupo Fiorentino as at the times of the House of Medici. Craftmanship and a centuries-old know-how guarantee high colour quality.

➡ Sizes 10x10 cm - 20x20 cm

Ceramic today means versatility.

It attracts for its infinite possibilities of personalizing our living spaces.

Small and big surfaces can become a unique distinctive feature.

Pictures∞

Manhattan. January. A cold day. In a hotel between 6th Avenue and Downing Street there is an old map in a Patchwork that tells the story of New York. The eye of the traveller, while he steps into the cozy warm lounge, stops on the picture. . .

Courmayer. February.

Mountain and tradition are an unbreakable duo for all the architects that deal with projects on the Alps. An old picture from the 60s is a revival of the challenge of a fearless group of mountain climbers. The lack of sophisticated equipment did not stop them. The mountain demands respect. All mountains.

Edinburgh. April.
The tartan, supreme symbol of the Highlanders, is revisited
here in a modern way.

How it works

1 frame

Able to hold up to 22 patches made of different materials.

- 2 patches 20x20 cm
- 5 patches 15x15 cm
- 6 patches 10x20 cm
- 9 patches 10x10 cm

Every patch will have a neodymium magnet on the back to guarantee an optimal grip.

To remove them you can use the "PATCH TOOL" (included).

Lab tests guarantee a perfect adherence of the patches.

The radiator can support the weight of any combination, provided you use the official WAY by Lazzarini patches.

How it works

Photo printing and customized graphics. Technical requirements and procedure:

Images must have minimum 300 dpi and 2MB to ensure the best graphic result (images sent via social media or WhatsApp will not be accepted).

Before printing, you will receive a graphic simulation of how the picture will look like on your Patchwork. In many cases in fact, the image must be cut out so it will fit perfectly. This is the reason why vertical orientation is preferred. (Maximum number of simulations that can be requested: 3).

Once approved, the image will be printed and the patch created. Each patch will be numbered on the back so positioning on the radiator will be easier.
